ApprenticeSearch.com is a free on-line service that drives awareness of the trades and fosters connectivity between employers and job seekers. Apprenticeship.com was established by the Ontario government more than 16 years ago to address the shortage of skilled trades' workers. The service aims to drive awareness of the jobs available in the skilled trades and connect Ontario's job seekers with employers. Apprenticeship.com also can provide LMI-informed resources, specific information about skilled-trade occupations and the career pathway, and supplies links to other relevant sites that showcase apprenticeship, job seeking skills or employment opportunities. www.apprenticesearch.com
